

Homogenate of drone maggots – natural protein (Good bye, Viagra!)

Posted on October 11, 2012 by tinych

Homogenate is made from seven-day maggots of drone bees, when they are in the stage of open brood. Maggots are extracted from the combs and crushed till getting a homogeneous substance. As a result, we get homogeneous opaque substance, slightly viscous, light-yellow color with a specific smell and taste. Sometimes homogenate of drone maggots is called drone milk. Homogenate has many similar properties with royal jelly, although differs for it by its biological origin.

Biological activity of drone homogenate is higher than royal jelly's one. 50 percents of homogenate consist of the same components as royal jelly does, however differ by functional groups of enzymes, and also hormones. Thanks to such a mix of substances drone milk promotes accelerated recovery of biochemical properties of testicles and prostate, being a stimulant of central mechanisms regulating an intensity of male sex hormones production, which promotes production of sperm. According to men's impressions, taking homogenate constantly, that natural remedy is more effective than Viagra. Researches show that taking homogenate stimulates work of a woman's ovary. Moreover, homogenate's stimulant effect on work of sexual glands is even higher than royal jelly's one. It is explained by homogenate of drone maggots contains 10 times more of steroid hormones than royal jelly does.

That allows maintaining that taking HDM (homogenate of drone maggots) normalizes area of sexual relationship in family. They found in HDM protein -10-20%, carbohydrates – up to 5%, fats – 5-6,3%, amino acids – 11,4%. Homogenate is rich in microelements: potassium, sodium, calcium, phosphorus, magnesium, iron and other ones. There are also vitamins in HDM: A, E, B1, B2, B3, B5, B6. Homogenate takes the first place among products of bee-keeping, outstripping even royal jelly.

Because of presence of a big number of "living" components (enzymes, hormones) in homogenate, it is very critical to terms of production, and, especially, storage. So, for example, native (natural) HDM loses its properties under direct sun rays, and also, if it's kept at room temperature for an hour. Native homogenate can be kept in a refrigerator at +2–5°C no longer than 24 hours, and at -5–8°C up to 30 days. HDM should be preserved for more lengthy times of keeping.

Such ways of homogenate's preserving exist:

Preserving by honey – it is the easiest and most reliable way to preserve biological activity of HDM. Add 1 % (or less) of native homogenate in honey, thoroughly stir it and put into a refrigerator. In this form medicinal properties of the remedy change in acceptable ranges and can be kept up to six months. If to add more than 1% of HDM, then the remedy can go off.

Take a spoon of such a remedy three times per day, 30 minutes before meal time.

Homogenate can be preserved via a mix of lactose and glucose (50% of the both components). A part of fresh native homogenate and six parts of the mix are thoroughly crushed in the porcelain or glass crockery. Derived mix is put into a refrigerator in open crockery, where it gradually dries out over a few months. After that the derived remedy can be preserved up to three years even at room temperature.

Daily dose of fresh homogenate is packed into polythene and is straight away put into the deep freeze. In the future, before taking a dose is preliminarily defrosted in the refrigerator, and is taken.

Canning of intact maggots without preliminary crushing via spirit.

Take 60 maggots at the age of 6-7 days (approximately 20 grams), add 100 milliliters of spirit, infuse in a dark place for 7-9 days, periodically shake it, and then filter. Take 30-40 drops with 20-30 milliliters of water, three times per day, 20 minutes before meal time. Ready remedy should be a clear liquid with yellowish shade and pleasant spicy aroma. It won't lose its medicinal properties for a year. You can add 15 drops of spirit 10-15% solution of propolis. Drone maggots can be eaten as nutritious proteinous food, which isn't inferior in it to meat of animals, and contains more microelements and vitamins. You can put some more salt into maggots and dry it in the stove or brown in oil. They have a taste of pork cracklings or kernel of a walnut.

Homogenate also effects positively on growing older organism, since HDM strengthens and even recovers immune system of a man. The thing is that immune system of a man becomes insufficient in the middle age because of viruses, effect of unhealthy factors of environment, diseases, and as a result the immune system loses control over a natural process of die-off and reproduction of cells. It can cause tumors. It's possible to impede that process by means of taking homogenate, which, in fact, is biologically active additive. Taking homogenate supplements ration of growing older organism with components, which have the most proper biological value and easy assimilated, however, cannot be synthesized by an organism on account of its growing ageing.

As a health-improving effect of biologically active additives on man's organism works through alimentary canal, homogenate of maggots should be taken for, at least, two months for getting positive results. The course should be repeated at least two times per year.

Fresh made homogenate is the best from the best patented masks for a skin face. You won't find the same number of essential amino acids, hormones and ferments in any other patented mean! Besides price of the mask from homogenate is unspeakable with means, which are sold in cosmetic shops. Try! You won't regret! Besides, a way of using is very simple: a necessary quantity of maggots should be crashed and the homogenate should be put on a face. Have a lie down for 15-20 minutes, after that wash the mask off with water without soap.

Taking of homogenate increases level on metabolism in the period of active muscular activity of a human, thanks to that his or her physical stamina increases. That means, that people, experiencing significant physical stresses, should be recommended to take HDM.

It is known that in Traditional Chinese Medicine, and medicine of Japan drone brood is used as a stimulant of growing organism of children, and also to treat diseases of digestion and psychological disorders.

This entry was posted in Uncategorized. Bookmark the permalink.
← Is Viagra harmful?